

FOOD SAFETY PREVENTIVE CONTROLS ALLIANCE

FSPCA 2020 VIRTUAL ANNUAL CONFERENCE INFORMATION PACKET AND AGENDA

ABOUT FSPCA

The Food Safety Preventive Controls Alliance (FSPCA) is a broad-based public private alliance consisting of industry, academic and government stakeholders whose mission is to develop curricula, and training and outreach programs to support compliance with the prevention-oriented standards of the Food Safety Modernization Act (FSMA).

FSPCA 2020 VIRTUAL ANNUAL CONFERENCE: FSMA COMPLIANCE DURING THE PANDEMIC AND BEYOND

FSPCA invites stakeholders and the food safety community to attend the FSPCA 2020 Virtual Annual Conference on December 8-9. The Conference will provide an in-depth analysis of the latest information on FSMA implementation, activities of the FSPCA, and the opportunity to network with food safety professionals from around the globe.

The Conference will include morning and afternoon sessions as well as the opportunity to join multiple virtual breakout sessions during the mid-day breaks. See the full agenda and session descriptions on pages 2-5 of this document.

We are excited to continue to host the FSPCA Annual Conference in spite of the ongoing pandemic and hope you will join us this December!

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

If the FSMA prevention-oriented standards impact you, this is a must-attend event.

DAY 1 CONFERENCE SESSION DESCRIPTIONS

2020 FDA UPDATE: IMPLEMENTING FSMA BEFORE AND DURING COVID-19

Speakers: Glenn Bass, John Verbeten

Moderator: Robert Brackett

While much of “normal life” has been on hold since the pandemic started earlier this year, essential businesses in the food industry know that food safety was never on hold. This is your opportunity to hear directly from the U.S. Food & Drug Administration (FDA) about the latest on implementing the Food Safety Modernization Act (FSMA), conducting remote vs. field inspections, reporting inspectional findings, and more.

BREAKOUT SESSIONS: ASK AN EXPERT!

Have a burning FSMA question? Ask an expert in these smaller, more intimate breakout sessions. No presentations – just open questions and answers. Participants will submit questions via the chat box and a moderator will relay questions to the expert(s).

KEEPING THE FOOD SUPPLY CHAIN STRONG: INDUSTRY INSIGHTS AND IMPACTS IN 2020

Panelists: Sally Klinect, Loralyn Ledenbach, Kelly Stevens

Moderator: Juan Silva

In this session, panelists from leading food manufacturers will share their experiences implementing food safety protocols during the pandemic. Join these frontline food safety professionals for a candid discussion on overcoming challenges to carrying out even the most basic elements of a food safety plan. Through their insights, you'll identify best practices that can help you and your operations operate like normal, even if the rest of the world isn't.

THE PANDEMIC'S IMPACTS ON FOOD MANUFACTURERS: FOOD SAFETY AND BEYOND

Panelists: Betsy Booren, Maile Hermida, Kevin Myers, Jenny Scott

Moderator: Matt Botos

This session focuses on the importance of keeping our food manufacturing and food preparations running, keeping jobs and creating commerce. Learn how food manufacturers like you have simultaneously managed disruptions to their supply chains, threats to worker health and wellness, modifications to operational processes and even the design and installation of new worker safety equipment – all while maintaining production, ensuring food safety and complying with evolving regulations. It wasn't easy and there have been bumps along the way, but these panelists will show how the experience has made them stronger.

DAY 2 CONFERENCE SESSION DESCRIPTIONS

APPLYING BEST PRACTICES FOR VIRTUAL TEACHING TO FSPCA COURSES

Panelists: Amanda Evans-Lara, Charles Kalish, Connie Landis Fisk

Moderator: Kathy Gombas

Since the emergence of the COVID-19 pandemic, FSPCA Lead Instructors have taught more than 1,000 virtual (web-based live) courses. As the pandemic lingers, virtual live course deliveries will continue to grow. Join us for this lively session as FSPCA Lead Instructors and a Produce Safety Alliance (PSA) Extension Associate share first-hand experiences and the “do’s and don’ts” of delivering a virtual course. You’ll also hear about best practices and FSPCA resources to help you successfully deliver a web-based, live presentation.

FSMA’S INTENTIONAL ADULTERATION RULE: AN UPDATE ON TRAINING AND IMPLEMENTATION

Presenter: Jon Woody

Moderator: Debra Freedman

So many rules, so little time! The FSMA Preventive Controls Rules may get most of the attention, but don’t forget about the Intentional Adulteration Rule. If the pandemic has proven anything, it is that the unimaginable can happen. So, don’t miss this opportunity to hear the latest on employee training and implementing mitigation (risk-reducing) strategies.

BREAKOUT SESSIONS

Here is your chance to ask questions about specific topics. These breakout sessions are smaller than the general sessions, allowing for dialogue and personal exchanges. These sessions will be in an open, Question and Answer format. Participants will submit questions via the chat box and a moderator will relay questions to the expert(s).

FSPCA PREVENTIVE CONTROLS FOR HUMAN FOOD SURVEY FOR CURRICULUM CHANGES

Presenters: Martin Bucknavage, Katherine Simon

Moderator: Jerry Wojtala

The FSPCA believes in the power of continuous improvement, so this year, we surveyed FSPCA Preventive Controls for Human Food (PCHF) Lead Instructors on the current curriculum (Version 1.2) to help us determine which changes, if any, may help enhance the learning experience for participants and improve the delivery process for the instructors. We collected Lead Instructor feedback on various sections of the Preventive Controls Manual (v 1.2), Exercise Workbook, videos, food safety plan teaching examples (model plans), and related PowerPoint presentation slides. Please join us for this session to learn about the survey results and potential curriculum changes.

BREAKOUT SESSION SUMMARIES FROM DAY 1& 2

Presenters: Robert Brackett, Jason Wan

VIRTUAL RECEPTION

Over the past two days, you’ve listened, shared and learned. Now it’s time to relax and connect. Don’t let this virtual format fool you; it is not only possible but enjoyable connecting with friends and meeting new people. So, join us for this virtual closing reception as we celebrate a successful conference and the FSPCA professional network that supports us throughout the year.
